

TAUPIN, R., L'Influence du Symbolisme français sur la poésie américaine, Paris, 1929.

A long and interesting chapter on T. S. Eliot is no doubt the most important part of this book.

THOMSON, A. W., Valéry, Edinburgh, 1963

This compact but useful volume is one of the Writers and Critics' series, published by Oliver and Boyd.

TURNELL, MARTIN, Baudelaire, London, 1953.

A readable general study of Baudelaire's poetry.

UNTERECKER, J., Yeats, a Collection of Critical Essays, New York, 1963.

Among these essays one by W. Y. Tindall on 'The Symbolism of W.B. Yeats' emphasizes that Yeats' debt to French Symbolism was slight and that his symbolism is very much of his own devising.

WALZER, P. O., Essai sur Stéphane Mallarmé, Paris, 1963.

...Another good introduction to Mallarmé.

WALZER, P. O., La Poésie de Valéry, Paris, 1953.

An exhaustive study of the whole of Valéry's poetry.

WEST, J., Russian Symbolism, London, 1970.

A study, as the subtitle states of Vyacheslav Ivanov and the Russian Symbolist aesthetic.
